

November 23rd, 1940.

Dear Mrs. Hogarth,

Thank you very much for your letter of the 21st with the revised contract and your telegram both of which I received yesterday.

I return herewith your copy which I signed, though one point, #4 d, has not been revised. As I pointed out to you, point 4d cannot possibly apply to HOW DO YOU GET THERE and ANYBODY AT HOME as you intend to issue these books at a list price of only one dollar. Will you kindly confirm to me in your next letter that #4d does not apply to the two stunt books.

I would however agree to a royalty of 5% only, in case that you issue a reprint edition of the said books at a list price of 50% or so of the original list price.

ANYBODY AT HOME: I inquired about it and found out that only the "Librairie de France", at Rockefeller Centre ~~publishers~~ received about a dozen copies in January 1940, of the french edition which contains verses in french.

Mr. Crespin, the owner of the "Librairie de France" told me that the book has not been sold elsewhere.

The english edition of the book has not been sold over here.

I have the feeling that the number of books sold
(and of the french edition only!) is so negligibile that one could ignore the fact altogether.

Mrs.Rey and I want to thank you once again for the delicious luncheon we had with you and which we enjoyed enormously.

I did not hear from Mr.Glaser so far.

With kind regards

Yours sincerely
